The type of energy coaching and healing provided by HealingSoul focuses on being in service of making the present come alive. This is done by removing any obstacles and allowing a client's energy to flow dynamically in the present. Past energetic or emotional situations are visited ONLY as they relate to a client's difficulty in mobilizing his/her appropriate energy in the present.

HealingSoul operates only with the client's permission and functions as a partner and conduit in the client's journey in bringing forth their own life spirit. The client does the work. HealingSoul helps the client engage their most adaptive energetic flow in the present. The client is 100% responsible for their energetic actions. The focus is on the client taking their own action and assuming 100% responsibility for their energetic flow.

HealingSoul has a creative and playful spirit of discovery, even through tough issues. Client's experiences of "flailing" are honored and welcomed with full acceptance that those experiences are part of a dynamic journey.

HealingSoul is based on the principles of quantum energy physics and chakra systems. Each client is seen as an energetic entity with many layers of energy, or what HealingSoul refers to as "bubbles"; one within one and that one within another, like blowing a bubble within another bubble. These "bubbles" of energy are in constant dynamic flow. Chakras, or energy centers, permeate all layers of "bubbles". Since we are all energy, when we connect, attach, or have affinity to another person, object, being, or entity, energetic attachment cords can be created. HealingSoul, with the permission of the client, operates to help remove any barriers to a client's dynamic energy flow, strengthen appropriate energy cords and energy layers, and detach any unhealthy energetic cords.

Visits are usually conducted at high energy levels in an informal and warm environment. HealingSoul uses Spirit Guides to help with the client's visit. These energies and spirits are warm, loving, and often quite playful.

HealingSoul lives the values of integrity and honesty.

HealingSoul has the highest consideration for the well being of the client.

HealingSoul works with coachable clients - not with medical or psychiatric diagnoses.

HealingSoul will not misrepresent training or expertise in delivery of services.

HealingSoul refers clients to consultants or therapists as needed.

HealingSoul provides clients with a description of services, prices, and range of expertise.

HealingSoul's unique coaching and healing approach comes from years of spiritual and psychological exploration, training, and learning.
